ABOUT THE CHGS

The Center for Holocaust and Genocide Studies, located in the center of Amsterdam, was founded in 2002 by the University of Amsterdam and the Netherlands Institute for War Documentation, which is a part of the Royal Netherlands Academy of Arts and Sciences.

The primary activities of the CHGS are scholarly research and university teaching, mainly through its interdisciplinary Master's program in Holocaust and Genocide Studies, offered at the University of Amsterdam. The Center also aims to broaden society's awareness of the phenomenon of genocide through public debates and other activities. All staff members have a lively interest in eastern Europe and two (Karel C. Berkhoff and Nanci Adler) specifically study and teach eastern European and Soviet topics, including the Holocaust, the Holodomor, and the Gulag.

Brief descriptions of previous and current VWS Fellows are at http://www.chgs.nl/index_eng.html, under "Staff."
